Veterans To Hold Armistice Day

LAC LA BICHE — Veterans of the armed services will gather at the Memorial hall at 10:30 a.m., Nov. 11, to commence the annual Armistice Day services and celebrations in remembrance of their fallen comrades and celebrations of victories dearly won.

The parade will leave the Memorial hall at 10:45 a.m. and proceed to the cenotaph where wreaths will be laid by one-time members of the Navy, Army and Air Force respectively.

Religious services will be held in St. Catherine's and St. Andrew's churches, at the conclusion of which the veterans and guests will repair to the Legion Cottage and partake of the usual excellent turkey dinner.

All veterans in the district are cordially invited to be present, and to make an effort to arrive at the Memorial hall in time to take part in the parade.

The Lac la Biche branch of the Canadian Legion is one of the oldest in the province, having received its charter Oct. 13, 1926, with 15 charter members. Though many of the original members have departed from this life and others have moved away, two members still live in the district, W. R. LaCroix and Prosper Limoges. The first president of the branch was R. J. Barberry.

Correction

LAC LA BICHE — In the report of the recent W.I. scholarships, it was erroneously reported that the sum of $25 would be given to each honor student. This should have read $25 to the student with the highest marks and $5 to any other honor student.

LADDIE AND LAWRENCE—Best of pals since Lawrence Diachuk of Hylo adopted Laddie, a purebred Collie through the SPCA in Edmonton, the two share their daily chores and after-school pleasures together. Admiring the beautiful tan and white animal is Lawrence's niece, Leslie Melody Larson, 2. Leslie is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Sawchuk.

SPCA Supplies Beautiful Collie For Lac la Biche Farm Youth

HYLO — Lawrence Diachuk, 16, was the happiest boy in the world when he went to Stanley Grandish's store to claim Laddie, a purebred Collie purchased through the SPCA in Edmonton.

Laddie, who eagerly rounds up the cows each night for Lawrence's milking chores, was an "orphaned" farm dog turned over to the Society For Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, 12251 67 St., in hopes that a suitable home would be found for him.

His owner, a teen-age lad who had moved to the city, was unable to care for the large animal properly in cramped city quarters. The dog is a purebred Collie, valued at $150.

The SPCA is always seeking good homes for healthy cats and dogs. A total of 4,347 lost, strayed or unwanted animals found refuge at the shelter which is staffed by four full-time employees and one part-time worker. An animal "rescue van" patrols the city eight hours a day and is on 24-hour call.

ADOPTION SERVICE

"Our adoption service," said A. W. Bruce, executive director, "is expanding rapidly with the increase in population in the area we serve." He said that he expects this year's adoption to double the 1957 figures. Our whole operation has increased by 30% over last year."

Lawrence Diachuk, whose home is on the T. N. Sawchuk farm south of Hylo, has never been satisfied with small dogs he has kept as pets before. His dream has always been to own a Collie.

An uncle from Edmonton, learning of his heart's desire, checked with the SPCA. Many of the "collies" were crossbreds and not exactly what Lawrence had in mind.

Robert Kaufman Injured By Fall Of Cement Block

LAC LA BICHE — Robert Kaufman is in St. Catherine's hospital suffering from a fractured pelvis, received when a large block of cement toppled on him while he was working on the renovation of the basement at the Hominiuk store, Oct. 28. The cement block was being moved by a machine when it toppled, striking the unfortunate man.

The latest report is that Mr. Kaufman is recovering satisfactorily.

May Finish New Elevator In Two Weeks; RCMP Barracks Started

LAC LA BICHE — A number of construction projects are going ahead at a feverish pace as the winter season draws nearer. The weather continues to be ideal for outdoor work as the new Alberta Wheat Pool elevator has reached its full height and should be entirely completed in about two weeks.

The steel ribs are in place for the roof of the new Michael Hamar store, and every day sees the outside shell of the building brought nearer to completion. Work on the Joncas Bros. "Tri-way" service station is progressing at a fast pace with the concrete blocks walls almost completed.

The new RCMP Barracks is beginning to take shape as the contractor, Jacob Brost, and a crew of carpenters and workmen take advantage of the fine weather.

Preparations for the dismantelling of the breakwater wharf and building a new structure are also being pushed. A large supply of the required logs are on the spot and broad-axe men have been at work for some time. George Langevin is the foreman in charge. The contractor is Quam Construction Co. of Red Deer.

The sewer and water extensions project of the town, with Bert Construction Co. of Smoky Lake the contractor, is nearing completion. With the exception of a few rainy days when the work was being started, the weather has been very favorable for such work.

Several private homes in the $8,000 to $10,000 bracket are in the early stages of construction, and warm days and frost-free nights mean a great deal to the builders.

Band Organized By Young People

LAC LA BICHE — Band enthusiasts met in the Memorial hall last week to deal with organization of the Lac la Biche Band. Although the meeting was well advertised and open to all, almost all of those in attendance were young men and girls, mostly high school students.

Many questions on different types of instruments, costs, and methods of financing were discussed. A record was taken of suitable instruments privately owned by prospective players and each player named his favorite instrument.

The following slate of officers were elected to guide the affairs of the band for a year: president, F. Creighton; vice-president, E. G. Dobson, secretary, Barry Breau; treasurer, Leo Gargus; committee members, Mrs. E. Cunningham, Ronnie Lloyd.

The next meeting will be held in the Library, Thursday, Nov. 6 at 7:30 p.m.

Mayor Chosen

BOYLE — At a council meeting, Oct. 27, P. Andruski was appointed mayor of the town.

But as though in answer to prayer, Laddie was put up for adoption through the organization.

DONATIONS

Mr. Bruce's staff felt Laddie was worth $20. And if a city resident had bought the animal, that would have been the expected "donation" to the non-profit organization. However, the officials were keen on placing Laddie back in familiar surroundings—on the farm, with a teen-age boy as master, free to stretch his strong legs racing into the pastures after the cows. Lawrence's donation was $15.

Bread Making Problems And Their Causes

A bread rising temperature similar to an inferno is not meant to be duplicated in your kitchen. Sour or strong yeast flavor and odor usually result from too high heat while the bread is rising or from over-rising. A good way to get the right temperature is by placing the bowl of rising bread on a rack over a larger bowl filled with fairly warm water and covering both bowls with a clean tea towel. Replace water if it gets too cool.

How annoying to discover that while chatting at breakfast you find your jam has been spread on your hand because of the inconvenient hole in your slice. Next time, you murmur to yourself, you'll knead the bread thoroughly but it could also be due to over-rising of dough in loaf.

Then there's also the bread that's so heavy it could well serve as weight lifting equipment. Not like the first-rate products you read and see pictures about. You wonder why. Insufficient rising time could have caused this problem, or too long rising followed by a deflating of the dough, or maybe the oven temperature or the water used to dissolve the yeast was too hot.

Bread making is really not as hard as it sounds. You'll want to supply your family with tasty, wholesome loaves during the colder months. Write to this office for bread making instructions and recipes.

AFTER A 10-mile swim from the Quebec border across Lake Temiskaming, all this young bull moose wanted was a little privacy. Instead, he found he had become a traffic-stopper. A mile-long stream of cars was stopped on the highway near New Liskeard, Ont., as motorists and camera fans strained to catch a glimpse of the animal. After hours of trying, conservation officers finally coaxed the frightened moose out of the water and across the highways to the safety of the bush.

Much Improvement In District Roads

By Henry Thompson

The Wandering River districts show an amazing improvement in road conditions since my last visit to that district in 1951.

Previous to 1951, the roads could only be described as improved trails. I helped build their first five miles of straight grade work to acceptable standards for that year. The road built was one mile east of the Amesbury corner, from there five miles north to the Wandering River post office. There were few roads in the area free from some obstruction to make car driving anything but pleasurable.

My trip last week, at speeds that averaged sixty miles per hour except at corners and crossing bridges, is proof its self of the remarkable development of roads that has taken place at Wandering River and its adjacent districts. Our driver's business took him east north and west of Wandering post office. I took a reading of the speedometer at the centralized schools and at our return to the Amesbury corner on the way home on a different line, showed eighty four miles of connected well graded roads, complete with culverts, vee type ditches and bridges. Except for a double-back of two miles that I subtracted from the total, we were on a different portion of road all the way and there were other improved roads we did not see.

The roads were all well maintained and in excellent condition for the winter freeze-up. My only criticism is that there is insufficient gravel but am advised that a program of gravelling is planned for another year.

The only outlet from the area follows in places the old trail along the Lac la Biche river and has been vastly improved since my last hazardous ride at thirty miles per hour with 1946 Chevrolet, and a drunken driver. That ride was a body-wracking, hair raising experience. The last trip at over sixty was a smooth, pleasant ride.

Turning west in the Blue Jay district, now in the M.D. of Athabasca for two miles we turned south to the improvement district for our destination at Gourin on Highway 46. I was pleased to find that the whole five miles was now a good graded dirt road to a much better standard, vee ditches and well placed culverts. I had opened three miles of the road from the highway in 1950 but was restricted to an expenditure of $125.00 per mile, including culverts.

Going east on the highway to the Plamondon corner, we turned south to the Berny post office, east to Egg Lake, this road is gravelled and a bus route. We crossed a new nine mile road construction project, that is nearly finished and will come out at Venice on the old Lac Biche-Caslan road that is now improved and gravelled. The nine-mile project is high grade vee type ditches, steel culverts and from what I saw of it should make an excellent market road and bus route.

Our only stops, were for examination of new work, consulatation with maintainence men and working crews. The whole 132 mile trip, covered no road twice, occupied less than four hours and was a pleasing revelation of the excellent progress being made in road improvement conditions as compared with the year 1951. No mud holes, water standing on the road or gouged out depressions that are looked on with indifference by most road maintenance crews in our municipal districts.

Maintenance crews ought to be given credit for the high standard of their work in the improvement districts. Construction work was good but no construction work can be judged on appearance alone, but must be gauged by a cost sheet per mile expenditure, before a fair opinion can be expressed.

The new road built this summer on the south side of Fork Lake starts at the Briereville post office on the west and opens the road to the Lac la Biche - St Paul road in the east. The road is gravelled and opens to the public, excellent sport fishing at Fork Lake. The lake has long been a favorite gathering place and picnic grounds for farmers and townsmen south of the Beaver River, even when the trip entailed the use of high boots, shovels and tow ropes to reach the lake. My first aqaintance with the late Mr. Aberhart was at Fork Lake Social Credit rally in the thirties.

Charlie Yerkin, one of the o'dest first settlers in the area has waited 42 years for the road that now passes his gate. One of the first to drive a car and survive the vicissitudes of a homestead era in bush country to gravelled roads without raising his voice to hi-heaven against the long neglect of "his road."

The slow pace of construction on the big project of a north and south route to highway 28, could bear with some acceleration. On a recent trip from Vilna, we came back on the gravelled School bus route to Whitefish Lake a distance of eighteen miles. The first four miles going north is on the Reid survey, on a ninety odd ft. road allonance built to highway standards but turnes east, north, east again and then one mile back to place it two and three miles east of the Reid survey. The 22 foot rood grade is well drained and was in excellent shape as it had just been maintained. Could be used when and if, Lac la Biche decides to pursue this route, south to highway 28, on which working crews have reached the precincts Vilna.

To summarize my statements, I might suggest that the people of 101 and 102 improvement districts can be well satisfied that they are receiving, their fair share of improved roads at a low rate of taxation, while we of the McRae district, now in the M.D. of St. Paul, are paying 100% higher taxes and not receiving a fraction of the road services, we had while we belonged to your improvement district.

THE DAYS OF the passenger train will soon be over, in the opinion of railways executives, including CPR president Crump and CNR President Gordon. Almost all railways on the North American continent are losing money on their passenger services and each year sees a bigger share of the traveller's dollar go to buses and to airlines. The Canadian, a luxury trans-Canadian flyer, shown above, is the biggest revenue maker of the CPR but even the Canadian, according to President Crump, would be called a loser if all the legitimate charges were assessed against it.

THEIR LIVES—HIS LIVELIHOOD DEPEND ON OIL

Imperial contributes to a better life for Canadians through constant leadership in oil . . . finding new supplies . . . pioneering more useful products

There are more than five tractors for every six occupied farms in Canada . . . one motor vehicle for every four Canadians. More than half the homes in Canada are heated by oil.

Canadians consume half again as much gasoline today as they did in 1946, nearly five times as much heating and diesel fuels.

Imperial has been a major contributor to this better life, more productive economy. In 1946, Canada produced less than one-tenth of its oil needs. In 1947, Imperial discovered oil at Leduc, in Alberta. Today, Canada's own fields produce nearly 60 percent of our requirements.

Through its nine refineries from coast to coast . . . and in its research operations, larger than the rest of the Canadian oil industry put together . . . Imperial has constantly been able to lead in the development of newer and more useful products . . . to make a fuller life for Canadians.

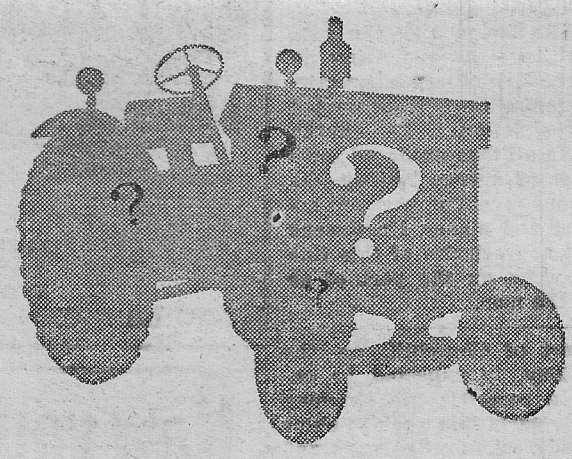
What is a TRACTOR?



Any tractor is a piece of machinery for furnishing power for farm work. It consists of an engine, a frame and a number of wheels.

And there the resemblance among all tractors ends. This one has some features; this one has others. And eacn of them must be valued in relation to price.

A low price should not tempt you to go without features that will pay a profit in your farming operations. Nor should you pay for features which are impractical in the field, or will be of little use on your farm.

To get the most useful tractor for your dollars, it's necessary to make a thorough comparison. We ask you to come see us and make that comparison, on paper, in our place of business. Check our comparison sheet, it will give you data on all leading makes of tractors in the 3-4 plow class, including the Oliver Super 7.

Then you decide on the tractor that's best suited to your needs.

We believe facts sell tractors best.

Progress Made In Building Church

LAC LA BICHE — Great progress is being made with the construction of the Anglican Church at Rich Lake. On a recent weekend, Douglas Bishop a member of St. Barnabas Church in the city and Diocese of Calgary motored to Lac la Biche where he stayed at St. Andrew's rectory. Mr. Bishop, a fully qualified electrician, did all the wiring of the church in Rich Lake. Members of the congregation at Rich Lake expressed thanks for Mr. Bishop's kind gesture. At the same time John Semanowich, head carpenter, completed the building of the chimney and facing. The last of the windows were installed, and the bell, a gift from N. R. Crump, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was placed in the tower.

Pastor of the church, the Rev. R. S. H. Greene in a recent announcement to members of the parish, expressed the hope that the church would soon be ready for all weather occupancy.

Meanwhile the men of the congregation have been putting in long hours of volunteer labor sawing and planing the lumber needed for the completion of the church building. In all they produced some 12,000 feet of spruce lumber, the only persons receiving payment be the sawyer and planer. Mr. Greene was most appreciative of this fine piece of work on the part of so many of the men.

The port of Churchill, on the Hudson Bay, is expected to experience a record grain shipping season. By early this week 31 ships had already taken on cargoes and 21 more are expected before the end of the shipping season.

Floyd McMillan Named Head Lac La Biche Curling Club

The Lac la Biche Curling Club held a general meeting, Oct. 29, to elect officers and reorganize for the 1958 - 59 season.

The following slate of officers were chosen: president, Floyd McMillan; vice-president, Roy Raines; secretary, J. Olstad; treasurer, H. Senetza; draw committee, N. Chodan, F. McMillan; finance and building committee, J. Zaluzny, E. Woynarowich; membership committee, J. Nykolaychuk, A. Abougoush; ice committee, E Martin, E. Tkachuk; social and entertainment, Marshall Hamar, S. Smith, J. Hackman; bonspiel committee, L. Badry, S. Hamar, E. Coutney, J. Hamar, W. Derkach.

The financial report was read and showed a balance of $546.51. Discussion followed on improvements to the exterior of the building as well as to the waiting room. The finance and building committee was instructed to proceed with plans for finishing the exterior with corrugated tin and to estimate the improvements needed in the waiting room.

A discussion of the parking facilities culminated in assigning J. Karasinski the task of making signs and working out a system of parking in the area surrounding the rink. The parking space is to be cleaned up and kept free of snow during the curling season.

Repairs to the roof are to be left for a time, due to insufficient funds at this time.

The executive is to call a meeting at a later date to draw up the teams. Following discussion on the rate of fees, it was decided they are to remain the same as last year, i.e. ladies $11 and men $16. All indications point to an enjoyable season of this popular sport as soon as colder weather sets in.

The $64 question is how much money does it take to satisfy the needs of a modern family?

IN VATICAN CITY, Paul Emile Cardinal Leger of Montreal, examines wooden balls that were used at the conclave of cardinals for the election of a new Pope. By drawing balls, cardinal "tellers" are chosen who check ballot sheets filled in by the cardinals. Cardinal Leger and James Cardinal McGuigan of Toronto represented Canada at the conclave. Non-Italians outnumbered Italian cardinals, 35 to 17.

Early Conclave To Choose Pope Once Lasted Nearly Three Years

VATICAN CITY — Popes were not always chosen as they are today. And in the past, the successful candidate sometimes ran for cover.

During the first centuries of Christianity, the bishops of Rome, serving as popes, chose their own successors. In 341 the Council of Antioch insisted that a synod be held to take the vote of clergy and faithful.

Pope Nicholas II 1059-61 sought to end the system by which the clergy elected the Bishop of Rome, but the clergy and the people from old habit — still interfered and sometimes forced their choice.

A notable example of this occurred during the funeral services for Pope Alexander II in 1073 when, suddenly, clergy and people began shouting "Hildebrand is bishop."

Hildebrand, a monk, was a famous religious figure of the middle ages. He did not want the burden of the papacy. But when the cardinals themselves took up the people's cry, Hildebrand accepted and as Gregory VII, became one of the church's outstanding pontiffs.

Interference by temporal powers also was long a problem and persisted until relatively modern times. It appeared for the last time in an open and direct manner in the 1903 conclave that followed the death of Leo XIII.

It seemed that Leo's secretary of state, Cardinal Rampolla, was sure to be chosen.

But Cardinal Puszyna said his August sovereign, Francis Joseph emperor of Austria and king of Hungary, would "exercise his power to veto" if Rampolla were elected.

This threw the conclave into an uproar. This veto, or "right of exclusion," was held by Austria-Hungary, France and Spain. For 100 years none of these powers had invoked it.

Cardinal Puszyna stood firm. The result finally was the election of Giuseppe Sarto, humble patriarch of Venice who had bought a two-way ticket to Rome. He became Pope Puis X and later was proclaimed a saint.

This was the last time that the power of veto was exercised. It was expressly forbidden in an apostolic constitution for conclaves issued by Pope Pius XII in 1945.

In addition to outside interference, the cardinals themselves sometimes had their differences and found it difficult to elect a pope. To prod them in this task, the Franciscan monk Bonaventure later proclaimed a saint suggested that the cardinals be locked up with skimpy rations of food and water until they made up their minds.

Bonaventure made his suggestion during the conclave that followed the death of Clement IV in 1268, at the time of the last crusade. All Europe was in political upheavel. The task of the pope was both difficult and dangerous.

Eighteen cardinals retired at Viterbo to elect a supreme pontiff. Months passed with no decision. The king of France came to try to help, but still no pope.

Finally, Bonaventure urged the people of Viterbo to lock the Cardinals in a palace. This was done, but still no pope.

The mayor of the city, Alberto Montebono, walled up all entrances to the palace. Food was sent through a rotating door—a method that is still used to deliver urgent messages. Guards were posted around the building.

Some cardinals became sick. A few died. But still they did not choose a pope.

More drastic action followed. The roof was torn off the palace and the cardinals were exposed to sun and wind and rain. Rations were cut to bread and water.

Finally the cardinals chose Philip Benzi, a famous religious figure who later was proclaimed a saint. But when he heard of it, Philip ran into hiding.

The cardinals then picked Theobaldi Visconti a layman who had been papal legate to Syyria. Visconti took the name of Gregory X in 1271, ending a conclave that had lasted for nearly three years.

Library Group Plans Opening

NEWBROOK — At an October meeting of the executive of the Newbrook Community Library the main business under discussion dealt with plans for an official public opening of the library:

Presently, arrangements are being made to hold this opening some time in the third week of November, tying it in with Young Canada Book Week. Residents of this district are invited to watch their local paper for the announcement of the exact date of this opening. Also, the executive plans to issue circulars inviting the residents to attend this important event.

The executive is grateful for a donation of 50 adult books from the Redwater Library and for a $15.00-cheque from the Newbrook Home and School Association.

The group is anxious to have many more adults become members of the Library and make use of the books and magazines available, as the fee is only $1.00 per year. Membership cards may be obtained from the libararian, A. Schmidt, or from the treasurer, P. Yakimchuk.

MANNVILLE—From Innisfree local school board comes word that the official opening of the High school and gymnasium was held Friday, Oct. 24. A full report is expected in a future issue.

THE 16th ANNUAL all-Canadian Holstein sale at Oakville, Ont., realized a total of $54,050 from 66 head of cattle. The top price was brought by a bull owned by J. J. E. McCague of Alliston, Ont. It was sold to Russell J. Litt, 24, of Walkerton, Ont., for $2,100. Buyers attended the sale from as far away as Mexico and South America. Shown are Harry Hays and Hugh Colson auctioning off one of the 66 Holsteins.

WOMEN'S GUILD OF ST. CLARE'S PARISH PUBLISHES COOK-BOOK

REDWATER — The Catholic Women's Guild of St. Clare's parish have published a neat little cook-book called "Personal Recipes", to raise funds for their church operations.

An interesting feature of the book is its foreword which gives a short history of the parish. About 1909, a number of French speaking families from the New England States came to Canada and settled in the district northeast of Redwater.

There were several families by the name of Soucy and so the place was called Val Soucy. The first Catholic church in this district was built of logs on one of the Soucy farms, and although it never had a resident priest the parish was served by the Franciscan Fathers from Chipman.

Besides the French people who belonged to the parish, a number of Polish Catholic families who had settled around Skaro at the same time, also made the long arduous trips over bush trails to attend the church.

Some 40 years ago the Polish settlers living directly west of Redwater on now Highway 28, organized a cemetery which is still in use and which one passes on the right hand side of the road going into Edmonton, three miles west of Redwater. A log chapel was started on the same site but later was abandoned in favor of a location in the village of Opal, where a church was built and a parish established.

The log church of Val Soucy, which has been given the patron of St. Clare, became too old and in 1928 two new churches were constructed, one at Egremont and the other at Redwater. It was the church at Redwater which received the same patron and is still dedicated to St. Clare. The priest responsible for the construction of the two churches, and many others in the Edmonton district, was Father Peter Hughes, now Monsignor Hughes, parish priest at Estevan in Saskatchewan.

The church built in 1928 served until 1944, although there were times when no priest was available and the people of the parish attended mass at one of the neighboring Catholic churches. In August of 1943, Rev. W. E. Doyle was appointed pastor and mass was said once a month.

In 1944 the building constructed in 1928 was dismantled and the materials used to construct a new church in the city of Edmonton, now known as St. Theresa's church. To replace it a smaller church was built by the parishioners of St. Clare's parish.

This change was made because the older building was too large for the congregation and too difficult to heat during the winter. From 1945 to 1949 St. Clare's parish was served by the priest from Radway as one of his many missions.

Due to the increase of population following the discovery of oil in 1948, Redwater was again made a parish, independent of Radway, when Rev. W. E. Doyle was again put in charge of the parish. Since that time, mass was offered twice a month, and since 1950 regularly every Sunday.

In 1948 a new diocese of St. Paul was formed largely from the archdiocese of Edmonton. The boundary between these two territories is from east to west two miles north of Opal church. As a consequence the parish there lost many members to the new diocese. Quite a few also moved out. At the same time the Redwater church, built in 1944, became too small for the present congregation.

In the fall of 1954 the remaining Opal parishioners decided to join Redwater and petitioned Archbishop McDonald for permission to move their church here. His grace agreed and also paid for the difficult long-moving job. The Redwater parishioners with those from Opal, placed it on the new foundations and the following year improved it by painting the interior and putting a new tile roof on the north side.

In June of 1956 Rev. John J. Herrold was put in charge of Redwater and Gibbons parishes. Since there were two churches in Redwater and no rectory, he asked the residents of both parishes to change the smaller church built in 1944 into a priest's residence. This was done. Since then both parishes have had their own resident priest living in the parish rectory.

Mass is offered every Sunday in each parish at 9:00 a.m. and 11:00 a.m. alternately.

This summer, the men and ladies of the parish painted the outside of the church, the other parish buildings and the fence around the grounds. Father Herold himself has acted as gardener, doing much work to coax a bit of green around the grounds.

After Slight Slump, Valleyview's Highway 43 Again Coming To Life

VALLEYVIEW — After having experienced something in the natune of a between-seasons slump, Highway 43 is again coming into its own. The throbbing blasts of the diesel-powered transport trucks, ceaselessly echo through the once-silent forests. In addition to the truck and local traffic, tourists, hunters and other transients, add to the orderly confusion. Hotel rooms are at a premium here and at Whitecourt while motels at both places report that business is good.

Transports whose drivers are having needed rest at their favorite filling station are parked in close ranks. In the filling stations and the attached cafes, the cheerful jingling of the cash registers punctuate the moaning melodies of juke boxes. Everywhere along the highway is cheerfulness, bustling movement and much noise.

Along those stretches of highway not yet hard-surfaced, the department of highways is rushing blacktopping and other road work with rod crews working extra shifts. Apparently, an effort is being made to complete as much work as possible while the weather holds fair.

New accommodations to handle the heavy flow of traffic are steadily being constructed by enterprising concerns. On Highway 43, on the hill on the eastern approach to town, a new garage is being added to the considerable number already there; while, on the outskirts of Whitecourt, ground was broken on Oct. 23, for the building of a new hotel.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

BE FIT TO SPEAK

Solomon John Mattar, keeper of the garden tomb of Joseph of Arimathea, where Jesus was buried and rose from the dead, recently visited our International Headquarters in Tulsa.

While addressing our office staff, he said, "You know, dear friends, we can easily speak about the Lord Jesus, but it is another thing to be fit to speak. My prayer and the prayer of my wife every morning in the garden tomb is that the Lord will make us fit to be witnesses in this place or any other place."

He gave three things as being especially necessary to be fit to speak the name of the living Son of the living God:

Compassion.

Consecration.

Service.

This incident illustrates the famous keeper's own fitness to witness for Jesus Christ anywhere, including one of the holiest places in the Holy Land, the garden tomb.

About 10,000 people a year visit the tomb. They usually come in small groups, sometimes only one or two at a time. On each occasion, Mr. Mattar takes them first to Golgotha Hill where he begins the narrative of the crucifixion and death of our Saviour.

Then they proceed to the sepulcher, which really consists of five tombs, only one of which was ever completed.

One day five elderly ladies came into the tomb. They were well-dressed and well-to-do. They were polite and conservative. They did not speak or smile while the keeper related the beautiful story of Mary Magdelene and the disciples who came with precious oil to anoint the body of Jesus only to learn that he had risen.

The keeper observed his listeners as he spoke. They appeared unmoved, even by the story of the tender meeting of Jesus and Mary, and he began to feel very sorry for them.

"Something came into my throat," Mr. Mattar said, "and I couldn't speak so good, and so my tears began to come down because they were getting along in age, yet, they did not appear interested in the things of God."

When the elderly ladies saw the falling tears of the tomb keeper, they were stirred. That is why compassion is so important. They knew the keeper's tears were not only for the story he was telling, but also for each one of them personally.

They knew that the keeper was consecrated in the service of his Lord and Saviour, but when they saw his compassion, they were moved. It was the compassion of Jesus which had drawn Mary Magdalene, and it was her compassion at the tomb which drew Jesus back to her.

One of the ladies said, "We were moved because you were moved, and we feel we can never forget this experience in the tomb."

Compassion for those he serves makes Mr. Mattar fit to serve them.

The famous keeper retells the story of Jesus thousands upon thousands of times, but he says, "It's not so much the talk, dear friends, but that we may be fit to do his work."

Be fit to speak the holy name of Jesus. Be fit to witness for him.

THE 10,000 General Motors workers laid off at the Oshawa Ont., plant because of parts shortage resulting from strikes in the U.S., drew about $40 to $45 a week during their layoff. These payments come from unemployment insurance and the auto industry. The average worker earns about $76 a week without overtime. Mrs. Murray Edward was here assuring her son Darrell he would still be able to get a second piece of cake during the layoff.

Feted At Party

VENICE—The teen-agers of the district surprised Nellie Lorenzo and Silvano Giacobbo with a farewell party Oct. 29.

Dancing and games were enjoyed by everyone.

The evening was climaxed with lunch and the presenting of gifts.

BOYLE — The Catholic Women held their October meeting at Mrs. Pickford's home with 12 members in attendance.

The meeting was followed by a social half-hour during which lunch was served.

Tricks Or Treats

LAC LA BICHE — Hallowe'en passed quietly here this year with no reports of vandalism. Since the weather was so mild, the children enjoyed to the fullest their treks from home to home for "tricks or treats". As soon as school was over, hordes of queer - looking creatures were everywhere. Even the toddlers, helped along by an older brother or sister, made the rounds. Groups of 10 to 15 at a time entered the business places to ask for treats before the stores closed for the night.

Reports of some housewives handing out treats to as many as 200 were reported. The children were well behaved for the most part and although many forgot the polite "thank you," in their haste to be off to the next house, few cases of damage were reported.

Lac la Biche

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mawson were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hencher of Bellis and Miss Ila Newton of Vilna.
